COL Shane Sullivan grew up in Fayetteville, West Virginia. He graduated from Fayetteville High School in 1990 and from the United States Military Academy (USMA) at West Point in 1994. He received his commission as a 2LT in the Corps of Engineers, with his first duty assignment at Fort Bragg, NC.

He first served as a Sapper Platoon Leader in the 37th Engineer Battalion (Combat) (Airborne Corps), with subsequent positions as a Combat Engineer Light Equipment Platoon Leader and Company Executive Officer. Upon completion of the Captain's Career Course, he was stationed at Fort Hood, Texas, in the 1st Cavalry Division, where he served on the brigade staff as both an Assistant Operations Officer in Bosnia and as a Brigade Adjutant at Fort Hood. He moved to the 8th Engineer Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division, where he served as a Battalion Maintenance Officer and as Commander, A Company. Upon completion of company command, COL Sullivan was selected for assignment at West Point, where he served as an instructor and executive officer.

COL Sullivan transitioned to the Army Acquisition Corps and held positions as an Assistant Product Manager (APM) and Acting Product Manager in the Future Combat Systems Program, and Deputy Program Manager (DPM) in Research, Development, and Engineering Command (RDECOM) before being selected as an assignment officer for the Army Human Resources Command (AHRC). COL Sullivan worked at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and in Afghanistan as the Product Director for Coalition, Command and Control, Communications, Computers, Intelligence, Surveillance, and Reconnaissance (C5ISR), delivering urgently needed capabilities to the warfighter. COL Sullivan then served as the Program Executive Office Intelligence, Electronic Warfare, and Sensors Operations Lead (Forward) in Afghanistan. He served as Product Manager, Ground Sensors at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, from 2012-2015, where he was responsible for delivering numerous state-of-the-art sensors to the warfighter. Most recently, COL Sullivan served as the Military Deputy to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Army (Plans, Programs, and Resources) in the Pentagon.

COL Sullivan earned a Bachelor of Science in Civil Engineering from West Point, a Master's in Engineering Management from the University of Missouri-Rolla, and a Master's in Strategic Studies from the U.S. Army War College. He is certified in Program Management and Engineering. His awards and decorations include: Legion of Merit, Meritorious Service Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters (OLC), Army Commendation Medal with one OLC, Afghanistan Campaign Medal, Ranger Tab, Senior Parachutist Badge, NATO Medal, as well as several others.
